

Invitation to Run for State or District Office

North Carolina Association of Student Councils

Electronic Filing Submission Deadline is 11:59 pm on Friday – February 1, 2019

Dear NCASC Member School:

We hope that your school year has been a good one. It is now time to start the process to elect new state and district officer schools, just as you will be electing officers in your home council! This is an opportunity for your school to step forward and hold a major role on the district and/or state level. In March at the state convention, we will elect a new set of officers. If you believe that your school is qualified and you have a student who is qualified, interested in being the student designee and your council desires to take on the responsibilities of any of the following positions, we would love for your school to run for an office. Serving on the executive board is a true honor and is one of the best ways to get the most out of your student council experience all the while helping us plan NCASC events and making the NCASC better. The job will be challenging but the experience the council, student designee and adviser will gain from this will be well worth it. Why not take a chance? You never know what you can do until you try! We look forward to receiving your filing form and seeing your school listed on the ballot!

Election Guidelines for the 2019 NCASC State Convention

Read carefully.

Contact the President-Elect school student board member or adviser if there are questions.

Filing Limitations (1) The President-Elect School is ineligible to file for any office at the convention following the school's election as President-Elect because the school's delegation is responsible for conducting the elections at that convention. (2) A member school can only file for one (1) state office and/or one (1) district office at a state convention.

School vs. Student Candidate Campaign posters and the presentation must focus on the school that is running for the position, not the individual student designee. The school holds the position and the school's qualifications, not the individual student's qualifications, should be the primary focus of the multimedia presentation, speech, and caucus responses. The student designee is only the school's representative on the Executive Board, should the school be elected. It is the expectation that the student designee listed on the filing form will be the board representative for the entire term of office. However, the candidate school student council, adviser and/or principal (with cause and preferably by consensus and in consultation with and prior notice to the Executive Director) can appoint another student as the board representative at any time.

Required Student Designee / Adviser Meeting There will be a required meeting of all candidate schools (student designees and their advisers) on Friday – March 15 at Roanoke Rapids High School. The President-Elect school will notify candidate schools in advance as to the time and place of this meeting. It will be prior to the first general session.

Adviser at Convention The candidate school's adviser designated on the filing form must be in attendance at the candidate school meeting, the general session when speeches and presentations are made, and at the district caucuses during the question/answer period(s). A disqualification of the candidacy may result if this requirement is not met.

Student Designee at Convention The candidate school's student designee must be in attendance for the entire state convention at which the school runs for office.

Handouts No campaign paraphernalia may be distributed or worn at the convention. (Example: shirts that have campaign messages, buttons, stickers, candy, etc.)

Posters Only four posters, each not to exceed 22 inches x 28 inches (standard poster board), may be displayed at the convention and only in the designated areas. Posters cannot be displayed until after the candidate school meeting. Two items must be indicated on each poster: (1) the name of the candidate school, and (2) the office for which the school is a candidate. The student designee DOES NOT run for the office as an individual.

Social Media It is recognized that social media can be a campaign tool for the school. The use of profane language and/or the mentioning of an opponent and/or other NCASC schools or their delegates is not acceptable. There is zero tolerance for any inappropriate use of social media. A violation of these expectations could result in notification of the principal and could result in disqualification of the school's candidacy. All violation allegations will be resolved at the discretion of the Executive Director and the District Directors.

Speech (and Presentation, if required) Student designees must present themselves and their school to convention delegates at a general session. The candidate school student council and the student designee are expected to create a presentation that showcases why the school's council can best fulfill the responsibilities of the office for which it has filed. It is recommended that each candidate school shows an overview of the different aspects of their council that qualifies them for the office. Humor is acceptable, but please make this an informative and focused presentation. The multimedia presentation (video, PowerPoint, etc.) and speech must be viewed and approved by the school's adviser prior to presentation at the convention. An adviser approval form must be turned in at the Candidate School meeting. Practices are CLOSED TO ALL STUDENT DELEGATES AND ADVISERS except the candidate school delegation/adviser during their allotted practice time.

The contracted media company will test all presentation formats to ensure compatibility with its hardware.

Caucuses Candidate schools for state offices will be assigned a time to appear before each of the three districts to answer questions about the school's qualifications, candidacy and goals. The district director and student district chair will facilitate these sessions using a uniform format that will be explained prior to the question/answer period. Candidate schools for district offices will only appear in the district in which the school is located. Two other students from the candidate school may accompany and assist the student designee in answering questions. The amount of time for each candidate school delegation to answer questions will be announced at the candidate school meeting at the convention.

Candidate School Delegates in the Caucus Delegates from a candidate school (other than the student designee and the one or two students who will accompany the student designee to answer questions) should not pose questions to the student designee when they appear in the caucus. A candidate school caucus team (student designee and one/two other students from the school) shall remain outside the caucus room while other candidates for the same office are answering questions.

Voting A preferential ballot method shall be used for voting to elect state and district officer schools. This method shall be explained to convention delegates prior to the distribution of ballots. The actual vote totals are not announced, are known only by the elections committee and remain confidential. The ballots and results are submitted to and retained by the Executive Director for one year.

Ballots School names for each office shall be listed on the ballot in alphabetical order. The ballot shall be printed in the approved format.

Questions / Violations Questions about these regulations should be addressed first to the President-Elect School student board representative and adviser.
